Dear Mr. George,

Please find my endorsement below.

"I am happy to commend to you the journal "TheoEcology," which provides a forum for peer-reviewed articles at the intersection of theology and ecology. From what I understand, it will treat a broad range of issues including theologically-based environmental stewardship, the relationship between religion and science, and Christian teaching concerning human origins and the origin of the universe. This journal is interdisciplinary and interdenominational, and therefore draws upon a wide range of perspectives. This should provide healthy dialogue and even spirited debate as we wrestle with important issues confronting the church and the human race in our day. May the Lord bless what I hope will be a fruitful dialogue on these fascinating issues."

In His Name,

Daniel L. Akin
