3. PURPOSE OF THE JOURNAL: This journal is created to uphold the

THEOECOLOGY MOTTO

In the world of burgeoning knowledge about ancient literature, civilizations, culture, and the world of God’s creation, Biblical scholars and Christian scientists together must engage in a dialogue with other representatives of the intellectual world, church communities plus public at large in order to share the following good news:

“The gospel of God which God promised beforehand by his prophets in the holy scriptures, concerning his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord, who descended from David according to his flesh and was declared with power to be the Son of God, according to the spirit of holiness, by his resurrection from the dead”. Rom. 1: 2 – 4.

'Theoecology Journal' – Book Review Guidelines

Note to potential reviewers of new books (2010 – 2011)
Advice by Editors

1. Give full reference to the book you are about to review with name(s) of author(s), Year, Book Title (written in bold), Publisher.
2. What motivated you to select this book for review?
3. In your knowledge, do you know of any other recent books that are somewhat similar to this book? If so, discuss the books in the light of contents of this book.
4. Do you know of any scholars who have reviewed or commented on this book? If so, make some statements on who said what on this book you are reviewing.
5. Give some comments how the book chapters are arranged to bring forth the author's new ideas.
6. In your opinion, what are the author's innovative findings or new concepts that will revolutionize or make change in the subject area of this book? In other words, narrate the fundamental strength of the book.
7. Finally make remarks on some weakness by way of criticism, if any (e.g. redundancy, lack of emphasis etc).

We recommend that the book review should not exceed maximum 1000 words. However, we will consider an extensive review and call it "Book Appraisal" (with 3 or more pages), if the books calls for such an in-depth coverage of the wide spectrum of ideas embodied in such a book that may need to be illuminated to reach readers of the Theoecologyjournal.

There is nothing sacro sanct about this guideline which is flexible and not rigid. You are the reviewer and you make your own judgment on the book you are looking into for exposing more vividly to readers through the Theoecology Journal. Cite page numbers from the book being reviewed in-text.

Formatting

Spacing

- 1 Double-space.
- 2 Single-space between the period at the end of a sentence and the beginning of the new sentence.
- 3 An extra, blank line should be inserted under the bibliographic information for the book and the after the last line of the review, before the name of the reviewer.

Indentation

- 1 All indentation should be set at ½ an inch.
- 2 The paragraph beginning the book review should not be indented.

Paragraph

- 1 The body of the review should be justified. This means that the text should be aligned to both the right and left margins.
- 2 The bibliographic information for the book being reviewed and the reviewer's name and title lines should be flush left.
